

Response to the Reviewers

Manuscript Title Here

Manuscript ID: # Paper ID

We thank the Associate Editor and the Reviewers for their constructive comments. We have revised the manuscript accordingly. In the revised manuscript, modified text is marked in blue, and newly added text is marked in red.

Response to the Associate Editor

Associate Editor Comment

Please clarify the main contribution and improve the experimental description.

Response to Comment 0.1.

We revised the Introduction and Method sections to clarify the main contribution. We also expanded the experimental description for clarity; see (Page 2, Lines 45–68) and (Page 6, Lines 210–245).

Revised text in Introduction:

[illegible]

We refined the description of the proposed framework. We refined the description of the proposed framework. We refined the description of the proposed framework. We refined the description of the proposed framework.

We added a short paragraph explaining the practical motivation.

Comment 1.1
The title should better reflect the scope of the paper.

Response to Comment 1.1.
We revised the title to better match the scope and contribution of the manuscript; see (Page 1, Lines 1–2).

Comment 1.2
The novelty of the method is not sufficiently clear.

Response to Comment 1.2.
We clarified the novelty in the Introduction and revised the contribution statement to better distinguish our work from prior studies; see (Page 3, Lines 72–95).

- We reorganized the contribution statement for clarity.
- We added an explicit comparison with closely related work.

Comment 2.1

Please explain how the hyperparameters were selected.

Response to Comment 2.1.

We added a detailed description of hyperparameter selection, including the search range and validation criterion; see (Section 4.2) and (Page 7, Lines 260–288).

Comment 2.2

The manuscript can be polished for readability.

Response to Comment 2.2.

We carefully revised the language throughout the manuscript to improve clarity and readability.